The ability of a company to manage, store and properly utilize the key data required for compliant origin determination, including classification, the applicable rules of origin, the bill of material (including costs) and certificates of origin or manufacturer's affidavits gathered from the supply base, is critical to maintaining an efficient, reliable and compliant customs management system and is the foundation for taking advantage of the cost saving potentials offered by the numerous FTAs.

MIC OCS provides you with the tools to solicit and store origin data from suppliers and to calculate origin for manufactured products. MIC OCS can store and process rules of origin for an unlimited number of unique free trade agreements. In addition MIC OCS makes it easier to generate and track origin requests through various options including a web front end application for suppliers.
